

Antisemitism and Being Jewish in the US

This Fall 2023 Difficult Dialogues topic will engage with the rise of antisemitism in the last decade—a rise that some might say has never disappeared and has resurfaced with events like the march on Charlottesville, the attack on the Tree of Life synagogue, and recent comments by celebrities.

It is hard to know how to talk about antisemitism, and this difficult dialogue will engage with multiple topics as well as what it means to be Jewish today, especially in a multi-religious and multi-racial space such as Boulder county.
