

The Classics Department and the Arts & Sciences Fund for Excellence present:

SAPPHO'S LATEST

Wednesday, October 17
HUMN 250 - 5:00 pm

Diane Rayor

Professor of Classics, Grand Valley State University, Michigan
Roe Green Visiting Theatre Artist, for the production of Euripides' Hecuba

A poem of “raging desire” and one reproaching her brothers are the two latest discoveries (2014, with a new piece in 2018) of poetry composed by Sappho, the famous Greek poet from Lesbos. Her perspectives on erotic desire and a family in crisis reach across 2600 years.

This event is free and open to the public . www.colorado.edu/classics . 303-492+6257