

Meet CU-Boulder's new Associate Vice Chancellor for Native American Affairs

Abrams Lounge, C4C Building, Tuesday November 7, 4-6pm

Benny Shendo, Jr. is a member of the Jemez Pueblo Tribe. He was elected Chairman of the Board of First Nations Development Institute in June 2016. Currently, he is vice president for business development at NB3 Consulting. He is also a project director for the Native Community Foundation for New Mexico; a former New Mexico Cabinet Secretary for the Department of Indian Affairs; 1st and 2nd Lieutenant Governor, Pueblo of Jemez; and assistant dean of students at Stanford University.

Mr. Shendo is a graduate of the University of Colorado at Boulder, College of Business.

This meeting is open to students, staff and faculty interested in Native and Indigenous issues, studies and research on campus. This will be an informal meeting (with light refreshments) to better inform our new AVC, Benny Shendo, Jr. about issues, challenges and opportunities, as he settles into his new position. Andrew Cowell, Director of the Center for Native American and Indigenous Studies (CNAIS) will moderate the first part of the meeting, with casual conversation to follow.

Sponsored by the Center for Native American and Indigenous Studies.
