Group HW assignment

- 1) Look at the book, one page at a time, not skipping any pages. No peaking ahead!
- 2) How do you describe the main points of the book?
- 3) How do the main points apply to the following hypothetical “built environment” example?

The State of Colorado has decided to design and construct a new highway. It will extend through several counties, and through state parks, national parks, and national forest. The purpose is to bring more individuals from cities into the parks and outdoor areas of Colorado. The design and planning process is just beginning. Individuals from different agencies and groups are attending a series of planning meetings. You have been asked to facilitate one of these meetings around the various social, environmental, and economic issues (3Ps) at stake in this project. How would you integrate a systems approach in your facilitation process?
