RIGHT HERE, RIGHT NOW GLOBAL CLIMATE ALLIANCE

Inspiring the world community to come together—Right Here, Right Now—to protect the planet and humanity from climate change.

The Right Here, Right Now Global Climate Alliance is a public/private initiative developed by industry professionals who have a record of creating and producing successful social campaigns in all forms of media. Collaborating with Global Partner UN Human Rights, Right Here, Right Now is committed to working with policymakers, people affected by climate change, NGOs, foundations, businesses, academics, celebrities, artists, scientists and all people to fight climate change and preserve our common future.

“The Right Here, Right Now Global Climate Alliance brings together leading scientists, businesses, influencers and human rights advocates to fight for rights-based climate action for people and the planet.”

—Michelle Bachelet, UN high commissioner for human rights
