

Intermountain Jewish News

Boulder Correspondent and Research Intern

The Intermountain Jewish News, a 104-year-old weekly newspaper serving the Jewish communities of the Rocky Mountain West, is seeking a spring intern to serve as a Boulder correspondent and to conduct research and write for our 105th Anniversary Magazine to be published in June, 2018.

The IJN is one of the most awarded Jewish newspapers in North America. We hold ourselves to high journalistic standards. An intern will learn these standards and well as delve into the Jewish community of today and yesterday. We're looking for someone with good writing and interviewing skills. Newspaper, magazine or online writing experience is a plus. Check us out at www.ijn.com.

Applications should be sent to Mr. Larry Hankin at larry@ijn.com
